

Ski traverse the wildest section of the European Alps through the unique culture of Occitania: From Mont Blanc (France), the highest mountain of the Alps, to Monte Viso (Italy), the highest peak of the Southern Alps referenced in Dante's Inferno.

TransOccitan Ski Safari Mont Blanc to Monte Viso

An intimate experience - by personal invitation only

Ski the largest and most famous ski areas of France, and the smallest and most hidden treasures in forgotten valleys of the Italian Piedmont. Tour through wild terrain, experience overnights in mountain refuges and boutique hotels, and dine with cheese and wine. Meet new people with a spirit of sustainability and social entrepreneurship.

Dates 2020: January 10-19th & February 7-16th (Fri-Sun)

Package price 3000€ max./person (4-6 bookings)
Ski passes for +-17 ski resorts
9 nights half pension
Transport on some etaps (bus, taxi)
Professional guiding & facilitating
Trip photography

Travel specs

Start: Chamonix, France (Friday, evening)
Finish: Ostana, Italy (Sunday, morning)
Arrival: Fly to Paris or Geneva, then train to Chamonix
Departure: Fly out from Torino, or train from Torino to Geneva/Paris
We carry all our equipment in day packs.
Other gear will be transported from Chamonix to Ostana and to Torino.

Guides & Facilitators

Tobias Luthé (44, PhD) is a ski mountaineering guide and professional ski instructor (certified by the German Alpine Club, Swiss Snowsports and PSIA) with more than 20 years of guiding experience on expeditions and technical adventures in places like Kamchatka, Greenland, Peru, Chile, Japan, Svalbard, California, Iceland, Norway, Russia, Georgia and the Alps as the mountain range he was trained and grew up. TL is founder of Grown, a lab that invented the most eco-friendly skis; he is a scientist at ETH Zurich in systemic design and innovation for sustainability, and founding director of the MonViso Institute in Ostana (I), a real-world mountain lab for sustainability transitions and systemic design, the finish of this tour. tobiasluthé.de

Eric L. Berlow (52, PhD) is a professional ski instructor (PSIA) with three decades of experience on global ski adventures. ELB co-guided the first TransFrance ski safari from Geneva to Nice, while his work as field ecologist takes him to explore his home mountain range High Sierra on solo trips and group endeavours he facilitates. Named one of the Top 100 Creatives by Origin Magazine, TED senior fellow ELB is owner of the Swall Institute, a sustainably designed, creative incubation space in California's Eastern Sierra. As ecological network scientist ELB co-founded Vibrant Data, a data science and data visualization company.

ericlberlow.net

